CANNOT HOLD BOTH

Members of Township Board Cannot Be School Officers

Members of the township board cannot legally serve on school boards, according to an opinion of the Attorney General who holds that the two offices are incompatible. This ruling effects quite a number of districts in this county and throughout the state.

It is a rule of law that when a person accepts an office which is incompatible with the one he already holds, he automatically vacates his first office by the acceptance of the second. If a person for example, should be elected as a member of a school board and later should be elected to an office that would place him on the township board, his office on the school board is vacant and the members of the school board should immediately fill vacancy.

The township board is composed of the supervisor, clerk and two justices of peace, whose terms of office expire first. None of these men can legally serve on a school board nor can the township treasurer serve as school treasurer as those two offices are likewise incompatible.

Large Timber Transfers.

Our man about town ran across Mr. D. Fleming, our citizen, and timber dealer, the other day, and in response to questions regarding his operations the past year we were furnished the following information from that gentleman:

From the holdings of the David Ward estate in the vicinity of Fredonia Mr. Fleming has acted as agent in the sale of over half a million dollars worth of timber land, to the firms of W. D. Young, of Bay City; R. Hanson, of Grayling; Cornwell & Co., of Cadillac; Gaylord Lumber Co., of Gaylord, and also closed a deal last week with the Austin Iron Co., of Mancelona, for a tract involving $100,000.

The Ward estate, our informant stated, still has about 15,000 acres of magnificent hardwood left, but has given notice to withdraw all lands from market May 10, pending the termination of the trusteeship which expires May 29.

Mr. Fleming has been successful in putting through these deals on the principle of verifying everything he claims in regard to quantity and quality. Being in the lumber and timber business many years he is thoroughly conversant with every phase of the business, and allows intending purchasers full protection on short time options. He is also reliably informed on the market, freight rates, etc., Republican, West Branch. Mr. Fleming is a brother of our townsman, Rev. J. H. Fleming.

Each age of our lives has its joys. Old people should be happy, and they will be if Chamberlain's Tablets are taken to strengthen the digestion and keep the bowels regular. There is no real need of anyone being troubled with constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets will cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any unpleasant effect. Give them a trial. For sale by all dealers.

Memorial Day in Grayling.

Memorial day exercises were held last Thursday afternoon at the opera house. The principal part of the program was an address by Hon. Oscar Palmer.

Mr. Palmer in his talk brought in many events of history that occurred during and since the civil war, and paid a glowing tribute to the work of women in this great war. Particular mention was made of such as Dorothy Dix; "Auntie" Fales; Mrs. Stephan A. Douglas; Clara Barton; Anna Ethelridge, of this state and others.

He also told of deeds of heroism that are not recorded in histories—scenes that he had actually witnessed, thus bringing to his audience a feeling of higher regard and appreciation of the great service that had been rendered by our armies.

While his talk was rather statistical in some respects, he greatly interested his audience. He stated that memorial day was instituted forty-five years ago, in 1867, and there are now eighty-three wherein rest 201,287 known and 152,103 "unknown" dead. Another remarkable fact is that the number who died in Andersoville and Salisbury prisons exceeded by over 2000 those killed in twelve of the greatest battles of the civil war. It is estimated that seven out of every ten of those who engaged in civil war have passed into eternity.

Little was said, quite in contrast with the usual Decoration day address, in eulogy of the old soldiers. This we attribute to his personal modesty as he himself was in the ranks in the capacity of a sharp-shooter and later as army surgeon.

The address throughout was an able one and such that we would be glad to publish in full but the Doctor modestly declined to produce the manuscript.

The opera house was packed to the gallery and many were unable to hear readily; however to look into the kindly face of the speaker, the grand old man of our town, was a sermon in itself. His brilliancy and strength of character seem to manifest themselves more and more as the years roll on. We want to congratulate the G. A. R. committee on the selection of their principal speaker.

The singing by the fourth and sixth grades and flag drill by the first grade were also well received by the audience, as were other numbers on the program.

The reading of the First General Order concerning Memorial Day and Lincoln's Gettysburg address were read by L. Smith.

Miss Florence Countryman greatly pleased her audience by singing "The Faded Coat of Blue."

At the opening of the program at the opera house the band played a medley of patriotic selection and received a generous applause of appreciation.

After the exercises, a procession was formed, headed by the Citizens band and marched to the cemetery. Here the graves of departed comrades were decorated with flowers and services of benediction performed by the ladies of the G. A. R. In the line of march besides the soldiers' were members of the lady auxiliaries of the Post and many school children.

One more memorial day has passed and each time the ranks grow thinner. But none of our veterans marched in the parade while a few rode in autos. The day was a perfect one so far as weather was concerned.

We of the younger generations feel that there is nothing too good for our grand army men. May their remaining years be happy ones with the care and comforts to which they are entitled, amply provided.

After the return march from the cemetery the soldiers and families and families of the W. R. C. and Garfield circle were privileged to partake in bounteous suppers served by these organizations. The W. R. C. held their supper in the basement of the Presbyterian church and the Ladies of Garfield circle at the G. A. R. hall. Both were well attended.

There is no real need of anyone being troubled with constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets will cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any unpleasant effect. Give them a trial. For sale by all dealers.

LATEST OPTICAL INSTRUMENT IN GRAYLING.

The Latest Improved Invention for Eye Examination.

We were agreeably surprised a few days ago when C. J. Hathaway showed us his optical equipment, and incidentally demonstrated to us the New Geneva Ophthalmoscope and Retinoscope, which he had recently added to his already well equipped optical room.

It is wonderful what this instrument can do in showing you a perfect picture, enlarged of course, of the optic disc, where the optic nerve enters the eye ball, with the veins and arteries coursing over the inner surface of the globe, showing as plain as can be.

It would pay anyone to see this, especially school pupils. Mr. Hathaway would be glad to explain the interesting things, not only about the eyes, but of the various instruments and methods used in finding the proper corrections for refractive errors.

The average jeweler tests eyes and fits glasses merely as a side line. He has given the subject very little attention, and his equipments generally is a trial case and a test card and could hardly be called an Optometrist. Mr. Hathaway has devoted a great deal of time and study to the work, and practices Optometry as a profession; is thoroughly in love with the work, and has an equipment second to none.

There are no better or later instruments and methods than he uses.

He is recognized in the Optical associations of which he is a member, and by the Optometrists of the state as a leader in the profession. Is chairman of the Board of Regents in the State association and his name was presented to the Governor some time ago by his friends asking for his appointment on the State Board.

Mr. Hathaway tells us that he had the benefit of one and one-half years' nurses' course, thirteen years ago, which could but aid him greatly in his work. He said, "man has been able to construct wonderful instruments that are able to do marvelous things, build cameras that like 'The All Seeing Eye,' seem to see everything, yet with all these wonders they cannot begin to compare with the eye's sensitiveness and focal adjustment—this is beyond human ken."

Of course equipment alone is not all. Unless one is well versed in the use of these, they are of little value. We have no hesitancy in saying however, that from a close observation of his methods, and the many satisfied patients he has benefited there is no question of his qualification.

Then again he said the Optometrists method is the druggists method. The eye is examined in its natural state, not in a paralyzed condition, and as refraction is the treatment of light, it is purely a mathematical problem, not medical, to be worked out on scientific lines, eliminating all guess work entirely.

As the Optometrist treats healthy eyes, not diseased, it is up to him to discriminate between the two, hence the need of instruments, such as has been described above.

He says that "the general public as a rule does not appreciate the work of the optometrist, not being familiar with the several branches of the optical line. Namely, Optician, Optometrist and Oculist."

The optician is one who, through his knowledge of mechanics is able to construct optical instruments, such as telescopes, cameras, grind lenses and fills the prescriptions for the optometrist or oculist. An Optometrist is one skilled in the mathematical treatment of light through lenses and, without the use of drugs, fits lenses for corrections of refractive errors of otherwise healthy eyes. He can be an optician also if he understands grinding lenses. The Oculist is one who is skilled in the use of drugs in the treatment of diseased conditions of the eyes. The Optometrist is never an optician but often an optometrist if he has given the study of refraction special attention, which is entirely outside of medicine.

As only from two to five per cent of eye troubles come from diseased conditions, when glasses only are needed, it is the optometrist, to whom we should look to for relief.

We want to congratulate Mr. Hathaway on the splendid business that he is building up in this line. He takes great pride in his work and bends every effort in trying to improve, and today he has an equipment that is equal to any.

SUIT IS FILED IN WARD ESTATE

Heirs Are Anxious to Have Court Make Settlement of Claims.

Suit has been filed in the Bay county circuit court by Willis C. Ward of Orchard Lake, Oakland county, one of the sons of David Ward, the one time king of pine forests in this section, asking for a portion of the estate left by his father and requesting that the property be disposed of at auction giving the various heirs their share of the proceeds. The petition is one of the largest documents ever filed in the local court at the beginning of any trial consisting of 92 typewritten pages.

The defendants in the case are the sons and daughters, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law and grandchildren of David Ward. Mr. Ward died May 9, 1900, leaving a large amount of property consisting chiefly of timbered lands in Oscoda, Antrim and Charlevoix counties. It was the biggest in state until recently. More than 80,000,000 feet of timber have been cut yearly. He appointed Willis C. Ward, Franklin B. Ward, a grandson, and Pearl W. Root, a son-in-law as trustees. They were instructed to carry on the business for a period of six years after the death of Mr. Ward when they might close up the estate if they so desired but the will called for the keeping of the property intact 12 years after the death of Mr. Ward.

This time was up Wednesday. Shortly after his death considerable litigation arose between the heirs but the rights of the trustees to handle the property were confirmed by the courts. They have continued to manage the estate, purchasing a big saw mill at Deward, buying and selling lands, and at present they own as trustees, lands in the counties of Bay, Crawford, Antrim, Kalkaska, Charlevoix and Manistee. Some of these have had the timber removed from them and the exact valuations of the property is not known now. The petitioner says that the interests in the property are so varied that it would be difficult to divide it evenly between the heirs. He believes that the property should be disposed of at auction and the proceeds divided.

It is now well known that not more than one case of Rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

NEW JERSEY ALL FOR ROOSEVELT

VICTORY ONE OF MOST COMPLETE EX-PRESIDENT HAS MADE IN PRIMARIES.

Col. Roosevelt made a clean sweep Tuesday at the primaries in the state of New Jersey.

Indications, based on fairly conclusive returns, are that Theodore Roosevelt has won all the 28 delegates elected Tuesday at the New Jersey primaries.

Shortly after midnight E. W. Gray, secretary of the Taft Business Men's League, conceded that Roosevelt had carried the state on the preference vote and that he would have the four delegates at large.

Those who examined the returns were unable to guess closely at the plurality for Col. Roosevelt, as the figures from several counties had not been tabulated, but former ex-Governor Stokes, Col. Roosevelt's representative at Trenton, said that Col. Roosevelt would have a plurality of between 12,000 and 13,000.

Governor Wilson won his own state against a strong opposition, within the state, and appears to have 24 of the 28 delegates, including the delegates-at-large.

Senator La Follette made a showing in every county, but his vote, as far as counted, indicated that he would not get more than two per cent of the total.

Delegates at large elected for Col. Roosevelt were John F. Hart, Everett Colby, Frank B. Jess and Edgar B. Bacon.

Delegates at large for Gov. Wilson were James B. Martine, John W. Westcott, Nicholas P. Wedin and John Hinchliffe.

City officials met with the saloonkeepers of the city and told them that they must live up more closely to the law.

ARE TIRED OF BRYAN

OHIO DEMOCRATS REFLECT OPINION OF PARTY.

Support of Judson Harmon, in the Face of "Perennial Candidates' Bitter Opposition, Is a Significant Sign of the Times.

The Hon. Judson Harmon of Ohio is Mr. Bryan's dearest political foe. Mr. Harmon's fundamental offense in Mr. Bryan's eyes is his old-fashioned Democracy without uplift-frills—the Democracy that really believes that material prosperity and low cost of government are worthy ideals.

Then Mr. Harmon has always refused to take Mr. Bryan seriously, except as a party wrecker and public nuisance. And finally Mr. Harmon got elected and re-elected governor of Ohio by discarding, or refusing to take up, all of Mr. Bryan's "paramount issues" and appealing to the people on the historic Democracy's principles of honesty in public office and economy in administration.

These offenses of Governor Harmon have so incensed Mr. Bryan that for months it has been evident that Mr. Bryan would rather see the Democracy defeated again than see Judson Harmon's candidate, having tried to dictate to Governor Harmon in his own state about his own state's affairs and been severely rebuffed; Mr. Bryan set out to exterminate Mr. Harmon politically.

It was formerly the etiquette of American politics to leave un molested in his own state the party leader there who might aspire to the presidential nomination to permit him "without attacks from the rear at home to come into the national convention with the delegates from his own state behind him.

Mr. Bryan observed this rule in Missouri with Mr. Clark and in Indiana with Governor Marshall. But he just could not refrain from meddling in Ohio. He was determined that Judson Harmon should not, if he could help it, have even the compliment of a first-ballot vote at Baltimore from his own state.

The Ohio Democrats expressed their opinion of Mr. Bryan's policy of destroying any Democrat whom Mr. Bryan happens to dislike. They gave the Hon. Judson Harmon 40,000 majority over Mr. Bryan's Del. Dr. Woodrow Wilson. The latter may get a district delegate or two, but all the indications are that Governor Harmon will go into the Baltimore convention with the forty-eight votes of Ohio solidly behind him.

Of course Governor Harmon may get no farther than that in the contest. That remains to be seen. But the Democratic outcome in Ohio, like the Democratic revolt in Nebraska two years ago, shows how weary Democrats are becoming of Mr. Bryan's egotistic attitude and dictatorial methods.

We think from now on there will be less talk about the possibilities of Mr. Bryan stampeding the Baltimore convention to himself and the Democratic party to another national defeat. Of course Mr. Roosevelt, if he should be nominated, would not have Mr. Bryan for his opponent. So would Mr. Taft if he should be nominated.

Since the answer of the Ohio Democrats to Mr. Bryan we think there is a much smaller chance of the Democracy, with all its enormous capacity for blundering, making the Bryan blunder again and putting up against the Republican nominee the one Democrat whom Mr. Roosevelt, like Mr. Taft, feels sure he could defeat.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The National Road Bill.

National aid in good-roads construction is well if it means really aid—that is, co-operation of the federal government with the locality and state, for highway improvement and maintenance.

If the bill passed by the house, of course passes also the senate its program will be an experiment. If the appropriations stimulate local initiative in road building the money will be well expended. If the effect is, on the other hand, to develop local expectations that the people at large will make the local road bills the money will be worse than wasted. Appropriations in that case should not be continued.

The federal government might well enough say to any road district whose roads are used for postal delivery: "Yes, we'll help build and maintain your roads, but you must put up your share first. And the first applicant for aid to come with its share raised to be the first to receive the aid."

The Shackelford bill for subsidies may be the beginning of a big program of national aid in road building. It should not end in a pork barrel. It should result in genuine good roads building.

Opportunity for Republicans.

President Taft stands for a tariff board or commission, and while Colonel Roosevelt has contributed little to the subject of tariff methods, he has said enough to let it be known that he favors the Taft plan. This obvious division, so that the Republican party would go before the country with a consistent record of opposition to tariff measures not prepared in accordance with a report of the board of experts. This would lay the foundation for a vigorous fight for a scientific construction of the tariff.

Another Harmony Destroyer.

The money-trust investigation has run up against a New York state bank that refuses to be investigated, denying the committee's power to pry into state institutions. The fact that the refusal is made by an old time Democrat as president of the institution is calculated to jar another chunk off party harmony.

Vice Versa.

MEANS HARM TO THE COUNTRY

It is no exaggeration to say that the provisions relating to the state department that appear in the legislative appropriation bill which has passed the house amount to a direct attack on American prosperity.

The adoption of those provisions would destroy the current of trade relations, the office of counselor to the state department, the office of director of the consular service, and all the divisions of foreign affairs created in the reorganization of the department in 1903. The result would be to put out of the public service the efficient officers now trying to solve vexatious problems as our relations with Mexico, the Russian passport question, the new treaty with Japan; the adjustment of the loan to China, the protection of American subjects in the Chinese empire and various other affairs scarcely less important.

After years of careful work our consular service has become the most efficient in the world. It is the advance agent and special promoter of our trade interests in foreign countries, but its mechanism would be dislocated and its usefulness seriously impaired if the proposed legislation were enacted.

The pretext for the atrocious measures with which the Democratic tinkers threaten to wreck the most powerful agency for promoting our foreign commerce is that they are in the interest of economy. Yet if they were enacted into law they would effect a saving of only a paltry $100,000. Blockhead statesmanship never proposed a more monumental example of penny-wise and pound-foolish blundering.

BRYAN'S LOYALTY TO BRYAN

Great Commoner Has Never "Gone Back" on the Candidate Whom He Favors.

Why, asks a choleric Democrat who represents the whole and impossible "Harmon and Harmony" ideal, "Why is Mr. Bryan so bitter against Governor Harmon?"

The answer to which, of course, is that Mr. Bryan is doing nothing of the sort. Mr. Bryan is championing for Mr. Bryan. When Mr. Bryan refuses to get into a fight it is only by way of getting a full or soubre contrast to his own shining candidatorial qualities. Mr. Bryan is the soul of loyalty. He is a Bryan man exclusively, adhesively, first, last and all the time. American political history shows no more lustreous and tenacious example of unflinching and industrious personal devotion than the loyalty of V. J. Bryan to the imperishable presidential intentions of William Jennings Bryan. He favors that great and good the Democratic revolt in Nebraska two years ago, shows how weary Democrats are becoming of Mr. Bryan's egotistic attitude and dictatorial methods.

In a quite peculiar sense has William of Lincoln laid to heart the beautiful precept of William of Stratford: "To thine own self be true, And it must follow as the night the day, They can not then be false to any man."

Not Born for Silence.

The hopeful quality of the Democracy is displayed in its expressed purpose to keep Mr. Champ Clark off the oratorical stump in the event that he is the Democratic nominee against Mr. Roosevelt.

Of course, you never know what you can do until you try. It might be possible in the vacation of congress to kidnap the speaker and put a stuffed man on the porch at Bowling Green. This stuffed figure in Pike county jeans, with a bandanna handkerchief, and wearing a countenance of much solemnity, might be shown to admiring pilgrims while the real Champ was making blue air in some sequestered prison.

Short of that violent and rather impracticable resort, nothing can keep the ebullient Mr. Clark from speaking. The optimism which proposes it is enviable, but it will not win any bets.

General Trade Not Disturbed.

Usually the great troublesome, convulsive things of this world carry some compensations with them. This truth is commended to those who complain that the tumultuous preliminary presidential canvass through which we are passing disturbs trade. Undoubtedly some of the social conventions are being madly shaken. Never was so much talking and traveling done by presidency seekers in this past as is going on all around us now. Half a dozen of the more prominent aspirants are on the stump, or have been there. Those who are not on it now will be there before the national nomination assemblies open. Parenthetically, however, it is only fair to say that general trade shows no tremor on this account, so far as the average person can discern.

"It" Looms Large.

If our party can come out of the Baltimore convention as harmonious as it will go into that body we will win, no matter whom the Republicans may nominate or whom we may select as party leader.—Chairman Mack of the Democratic National Committee.

But when it comes to wricks, its worse than icebergs.

127 REBELS KILLED BY CUBAN SOLDIERS

FIRST REAL FIGHT OF THE INSURRECTION IS REPORTED NEAR SANTIAGO.

AMERICAN SEIZED AND HELD FOR RANSOM BY NEGROES.

United States Gunboats Are Near the Scene of the Disturbance Ready to Land Marines if Necessary.

It is reported that a battle at Mayaya, near Palma Soriano, resulted in a complete victory for the government troops under Gen. Mendota. The mountain artillery was used with terrible effect. One hundred and twenty-seven rebels and 18 women were killed.

The United States gunboat Paducah remained off Daiquiri but did not land marines. Firing continued all night around the Daiquiri mines, where the government has a strong detachment. A large number of rebels were killed in the fighting. The miners are abandoning their work.

The American consul, Mr. Holliday, left for Daiquiri to investigate the situation there, which is considered critical.

It is reported that Col. Walter Wheeler, an American who owns a ranch near Daiquiri, has been captured by the rebels and held for ransom.

The United States gunboat Nashville at Nipe bay has not landed marines. The Spanish-American iron Co. has asked for the protection of its mine which is valued at $6,000,000 at Felton, near Nipe bay.

Louis Gomez, who is charged with being an important conspirator in the revolt, was arrested while attempting to embark on the steamer Julia for Santo Domingo. Other important arrests including those of two high officials, are expected, it is said.

Reputable Attack of Prophet See.

Stephen Bridges, of Chicago, principal witness against Evelyn Arthur See, leader of the Absolute Life cult, in the latter's trial for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, has made an affidavit repudiating his testimony. He declares now that he did see an infatuated man making statements against him. See is now a prisoner in the county jail awaiting the return of a child case against him in court. It is said to be the purpose of the cult leader's lawyers to attempt to bring the affidavit to the attention of the higher court in the hope of gaining a new trial for their client, who is now under sentence to the penitentiary since August 14, for minor resident of Ypsilanti, Mich. His wife and daughter were members of the cult and spent much time at See's house.

Cattle Shortage Denied by Bureau.

In a statement issued the department of commerce and labor takes direct issue with the dealers' association which holds that the advance in price of meat is due to a shortage of cattle. Since 1907, according to the department, have receipts of cattle been so great as in April of this year. In their statement the dealers said: "The rise in prices is due to a shortage in shipments from the west. The production of native steers is said to be 25 per cent less than it was last year. This shortage is bearing the brunt of these conditions." As to the receipt of hogs the report states: "The receipts in April of this year for hogs show a considerable increase, and the number of sheep received is likewise greater than the number received in any April during the past decade."

Dawson Wins 500-Mile Race.

Establishing a new world's record for a 500-mile race, Joe Dawson, driving a National car, at Indianapolis, won the world's greatest motor event in a contest remarkable in that there were no serious accidents, that the debut expectations of the 100,000 spectators and wagers made to the contrary, no one was killed.

Dawson's time for the 500 miles was 6 hours, 21 minutes and 6 seconds, an average time of 77.7 miles an hour, a new mark for the distance on any kind of track. The average time made last year was 74.6 miles.

Blows Self Up With Dynamite.

Otto Tormann, aged 25, a farmer residing near Oshkosh, ended his life by blowing himself to pieces with a stick of dynamite. Tormann had been in poor health for several months, and during the past few days had apparently given up all hope of recovery.

High parents found the young man's body in the yard terribly mangled. Investigation showed that he had placed the stick of explosive under his body, lighted the fuse, and awaited the explosion.

The Indian appropriation bill carrying $13,070,000, was reported to the senate by the Indian affairs committee. The total appropriation is an increase of $4,820,943 over the bill as it passed the house.

John Valle, a Detroit iron worker who fell 93 feet from the structural work on the Hill Memorial building, at Ann Arbor, is getting along nicely at the University hospital.

James L. Losey, aged 60, for the past 15 years foreman at the plant of the Thomas Milling Co., at Lansing, died from injuries received by being caught in the machinery at the plant when his clothes caught in a belt drawing him in the shaft. His cries for help were heard by the engineer, who stopped the machinery. He was badly crushed and lived but a few hours.

NOTED AVIATOR DEAD.

Death Closes Wilbur Wright's Notable Career.

Wilbur Wright, the noted aviator, died this morning in Dayton, Ohio, after a lingering illness and for approximately two weeks he had been unconscious.

The death of the inventor came suddenly, members of the family being hastily summoned from their rooms at which they had retired in the belief that the patient was making substantial improvement.

Dissolution came quietly, without a struggle, in the still hour of the early morning with the patient surrounded by his venerable father, Bishop Milton Wright, the devoted sister, Katherine, the other two brothers, Lorin and Roushchin, and Dr. Daniel Becket Conklin, who has been a constant attendant since he took to his bed on Saturday, May 1.

A statement given out by Frank M. Buckles, leader of the Taft organization, regarding the Italian's attack, says: "The twelve hundred persons assembled in the public square were disappointed in not hearing the president speak because of the act of a president's face, who came down, scrapping his face, was about to speaking but the secret service men pushed him back in his seat and took charge of affairs. They pushed the crowd out at full speed through the carwash, not knowing what was in the paper, and not understanding the circumstances that the paper had been soaked in water to make it heavy."

Mrs. Frances Wickham, mother of United States Attorney General Wickham, is dead at Lake Como, Switzerland.

Canal Legislation.

One of the most important things before this Congress has been the legislation for the government of the Canal Zone, including the fixing of tolls for the use of the canal.

Even if the public could have forgotten it, Congress would not let it forget that the canal is to be opened in 1915, and that there will be a great Exposition at San Diego in that year to celebrate the opening of it.

And now that the canal is practically completed, Congress is considering whether the great organization of men and machinery built up on the Isthmus shall be dissipated, or whether it shall be transported bodily to Alaska, there to be put to work building a government railway into the heart of the country, to facilitate the opening of that great territory.

San Diego is interested in Alaska only less than she is in the Canal, and she would be glad to see the territory developed. Like the rest of the Pacific coast, San Diego expects to benefit if the great coal measures of Alaska are opened up so that manufacturing on the Coast can thrive on cheap fuel.

SAMPLES OF FARM PRODUCE WANTED

Let Crawford County be Well Represented in Our Traveling Exhibit

The work of the Development Bureau requires many samples of agricultural products, especially in this so-called "Bureau" has put on the traveling exhibit, for in moving from place to place the exhibit material deteriorates rapidly. In the past it has nearly always been necessary for the Bureau to employ considerable help to secure these agricultural exhibits from the different localities of the district. It seems to the secretary that this should not be necessary. Anyone who is in a position to secure a fine sample should be loyal enough and have sufficient brooding spirit to that he would go to a little trouble to secure same, and send it to the Bureau's headquarters, and I am confident that there is not a farmer or fruit grower who would not be perfectly willing to donate the article in question. If however, it be necessary to purchase, the Bureau is in position to do so. This year we plan to tag each and every article with the name of the grower, and the locality where grown, providing, of course, we can get representative samples from the entire district.

For the secretary of some representative of the Bureau to personally go out and try to secure a comprehensive exhibit of different products raised in various localities comprising the district, would be almost impossible, and at any rate would be very expensive, therefore may we urge the boosters to send in small samples, and whenever possible, to attach the story to the article, that is, the number of acres, yield, profit, or something which would be of interest.

The grains and grasses should be cut a little on the green order and then dried in the shade. This will keep the color brighter and prevent shelling.

The fruit should be made in possible for to ship these samples without cost, but in any case the Bureau will stand transportation charges.

We want a sample of Alfalfa from each county within the territory. The Western Michigan Development Bureau boasts that Alfalfa is successfully grown in all of their twenty counties. It must also be true of our seventeen counties, and we want to know where and who.

Just put it Development Bureau, Bay City.

Left-Overs.

Time honored and hoary jests about hash are still told, but as a matter of fact, nothing more agreeable to the palate of man was ever invented. In respect to hash, it may be said that a necessity has been the parent of a pleasure, but this is true only when the concoction is well made. People often have an idea that because a thing is simple no care in its preparation is required, and this is the reason that potatoes and beans and peas are so often poorly made by the very persons who can cook a fine Christmas dinner. The common and indispensable hash suffers from this carelessness, for too often it is but some dried up meat, indifferently hacked at and only lukewarm. Hash can be made from dry meat but only if some substitute is found for the natural juices which are lacking. Butter and salt, grease should be added to the hash, also oil and a little garlic to lamb, and a beaten egg to chicken. Soup stock or water in which vegetables have been cooked should be used to moisten the mixture, instead of the plain water, which gives a flat taste.

STRONG PLEA FOR PARKWAY

Los Angeles Newspaper Condemns a Proposed Plan as Not in Interests of Economy.

W. H. Humphreys of the Los Angeles board of public works has gone on record as favoring narrower driveways in strictly residential districts, and would lessen the street width and widen the parkways of many now congested. This from a purely economic view of the matter, says the Examiner of that city. Narrow streets cost less to build and less to maintain than wide ones and when there are to be, or are paved such initial cost and upkeep is no small expense.

But there is another side to the question, the aesthetic view of the matter. How may we have beautiful streets with but a narrow green ribbon along each side from 18 to 36 inches wide? Such a paucity of parkway does not in the least influence the appearance of the street. All that may be said for it is that street trees may be planted therein, though they cannot remain in vigorous health and beauty except for their youthful years. It may be possible for a tree to survive for many years under such hard conditions, but what about them in 50 or 75 years, at the time when they should be most impressive. The trunks will then have filled any ordinary parkway from curb to curb. Shall we then cut them out or shall we cut a large half-circle out of the cement sidewalk and also narrow the driveway three or more feet on each side, moving each curb toward the middle of the street? Would it not be better to start right and have fine vigorous, healthy trees for all time and rest assured of their enduring centuries, to the continued beautification of our city? When shall we correct admittedly wrong conditions? Do it now.

MAKING A CITY BEAUTIFUL

Plenty of Trees Not the Only Essential to Good Streets—Straight Streets Wrong.

"When art will make our streets as beautiful as the woods and as elevating as the mountainsides, then it will be a pleasure and a rest, and not a weight upon the spirit to come from the open country into the city." So sang a great writer and a great observer. Though this means primarily, the carrying out of the writer's hobby, fully planted streets there is much more to be done before we have beautiful streets.

Straight streets—in residence districts, especially among the hills, are largely wrong, though if many were contour lines we might easily endure a few straight ones. In following a straight street we are impressed with its monotony except if he well planted and flanked with fine gardens. On streets of series of graceful curves the scene is ever-changing, and we view both street and garden scenery from every possible angle, thereby getting all variations obtainable. It almost constitutes a crime to cut canyons through hills, for it will ever be a source of regret to those of good taste, clear down to the end of time.

Nevertheless, we are progressing in this respect, for many large subdivisions of late have been laid out in conformity to the contours of the hills.

This means, usually, that landscape engineers, rather than civil engineers only, are planning this new work. Wider parkways are also prevailing.

Wide parkways are also prevailing, escape gardens and horticulturalists, without influence, even in cold-blooded business deals.

European Model Villages.

The plan of "garden cities" has been taken up with great enthusiasm in France and in many industrial centers. Efforts have been made to follow the English example of establishing model villages for work people. A big coal mining company near Douai has laid out a splendid garden village and now is rendering more beautiful the approaches to the mines, masking the unsightly shafts and engine-houses with rose gardens.

Women Travelers Expect Much.

But for an interesting, discriminating and all-round exacting proposition the lady patron is doubtless the winner. She must always have a parlor room, with bath, fronting the street; plenty of closet room. The room must be large enough to accommodate a couple of box-cars she calls, trunks. She will use three times as many towels as a man; keep the bell-hops in perpetual motion to answer her calls, and make more complaints about the temperature of her room in one day than a man would in a month.

Mexican Plague of Field Mice.

Manzanillo reports that a plague of mice has visited the fields in that section of Colima and almost destroyed the corn and rice crops. The rodents have gnawed away at a rate that alarmed the farmers and they have appealed to the authorities for some means to exterminate them. Whole fields of corn have been moved down and the farmers are at a loss how to check the advance of the mice to prevent further loss.

TREATING WOUNDS OF HORSE

Lag Injuries Are Rather Serious Matter, Since They Are Likely to Leave Blemish.

Bruised wounds do not require a great amount of attention, since they are usually protected by the skin, and germs cannot find their way in to cause much trouble. To keep down inflammation, it helps to bathe the skin with a solution made by dissolving two tablespoons of lead acetate in a quart of water.

Leg wounds in horses are a rather serious matter, since they are likely to leave a blemish which will lower the value. It is important in treating them to secure a healing which will be so perfect that no one will suspect that a wound has ever been there. For such wounds one veterinarian suggests the following: Clean the wound with a wash composed of one tablespoonful of acetate of lead, one tablespoonful of sulphate of zinc, four tablespoonfuls of tincture of arnica, and one quart of water. This wash should be used every hour or so the first day and three or four times daily thereafter. The object is to keep the wound, while healing, lower than the surface of the skin. If it pushes up, bichloride of mercury, as much as can be put on the surface of a dime, should be placed on the sore. It is said that leg wounds thus treated will heal over, leaving no blemish.

FEEDING TROUGH FOR SHEEP

Convenient Rack May Be Constructed by Following Directions as Given Herewith.

A convenient trough for feeding sheep may be made out of 1 by 4 material for sides and six-inch material for bottom, says the Homestead. The legs can be made out of 2 by 4's. They should be crossed and nailed together securely. A three-cornered piece of board should be nailed in the upper angle of the legs upon which the trough may rest. The length of the trough may be from eight to ten feet.

Horse's Appetite.

If one of the working horses loses its appetite, it must not be assumed that it has acquired some serious malady. It has probably been kept on a too monotonous ration. The diet must be changed, and if an improvement is not noted quickly, the animal needs both a purgative and a tonic. A tablespoonful of aniseed in the feed is an excellent tonic as it sweetens the stomach and stimulates the appetite.

Rations Lack Protein.

Coarse, dry corn fodder and stover, timothy hay and the straw of the ordinary small grains, which usually form a large part of the rations of farm flocks, are lacking in both protein and laxative qualities and properly should constitute only a very small portion or no part at all of the ewe's winter ration. They are only poor feeds for any sheep at any time.

Raising Sheep.

Many farmers say they do not raise sheep because they are more subject to disease than other animals. Not so. More sheep die from damp, filthy quarters, exposure to rain and snow and from being kept on low lands than from disease.

Concentrate Feed Mixture.

Two Profits From the Same Land at the Same Time

THE more fertile your land, the greater its value and the larger the crop. Farm land is made fertile by evenly spreading the proper quantity of stable manure. Therefore, the farmer who uses an I H C manure spreader collects a double profit. He markets heavier crops and his land is made more valuable.

To find out how this is done, see your local dealer and have him show you an

POULTRY

TO KEEP LICE FROM POULTRY

One of Most Difficult Problems That Confronts Chicken Fancier—Proper Procedure.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE)

One of the most difficult problems which the poultry keeper has to meet is that of keeping his poultry houses and stock reasonably free from lice, mites and other external parasites.

In keeping a poultry plant free from lice there are two points of attack: One, the birds themselves; the other, the houses, nest boxes, roosting boards, etc.

In using any kind of lice powder on the birds themselves, it should always be remembered that a single application of powder is not sufficient. When there are lice present on a bird there are always unhatched eggs of lice ("nits") present, too. The proper procedure is to follow up a first application of powder with a second at an interval of four days to a week. If the birds are badly infested at the beginning it may be necessary to make still a third application. To clean the cracks and crevices of the woodwork

FANS ARE OF MEDIUM SIZE

White and Pale Colors Favored and the Young Girls Like Those of Gauze.

Fans this season are neither large nor small, but just the happy mean. The fan is a dainty "woman," and is seen chiefly in white and pale colors. Sometimes in chiffon, hand-painted with delicate flowers and edged with a tiny border of fringes.

For the young girl there is a pure white, gauze fan. It is inset with white, Honiton lace, or should she care for something "dainty," there is a beautiful fan composed of delicate white ostrich-feather "fronds," with mother-of-pearl "petals" and long white tulle tassels, pendant from them. Tassels can do no wrong this season.

On its way to the opera or theater, a resting place is needed for the fan, and a charming receptacle is made in the manner described. It is fashioned of an oblong piece of brocade or embroidered fabric, chosen for its beautiful colors, and is lined with silk, over which is superimposed tulle.

A gold brocade, with a Du Barry rose design, would, for instance, have a pale mauve silk lining, veiled with Du Barry tulle.

Round the edges of the "flap" as applied narrow silk fringe, and a long cord is provided, with a long velvet tassels each side of the "flap."

BOXES OF BRONZE LEATHER

Receptacles for Spools, Thimbles and Needles That All Little Girls Will Appreciate.

Extremely attractive in that particular way that girls very much like are the tiny little "bronze leather" boxes which are made to hold spools of thread, thimbles and needles. These are meant for little mending kits to put in one's bag when one is visiting for a few days. The boxes are very small, some of them containing only black silk and white cotton, while others have a row of four or five spools. They have a top of leather, and the edges of the box are lined with narrow satin ribbon or with silk or silk braid. The boxes are long and narrow and the lids are hinged to them by the ribbon binding which is sewed together at the ends.

Some of the boxes are the same width through the length, and others are tapered at one end. The boxes which are meant for more than one spool are usually the same width throughout. The width is just enough to admit a spool being put in sideways. When only one spool is to be put in the box it goes in lengthwise.

Home-Made Brooches.

The popularity of the side-trill or lapel that needs a pin to hold it in place has brought about the use of many ornamental brooches. One of the newest of these is made of gold, brass or colored beads for the center. And any girl can make such a brooch. Disk or dull gold beads, sewed together and centered with jewels or beads in desirable colorings make up easily. All sorts of shapes are given them, and often pendants are added of tarnished gold buttons, of passementerie ornaments or of beads or jewels. The brooches have strong safety pins sewed on at the back.

Protect the Edges.

When using oilcloth on the kitchen table put it on in this way: Get wooden strips to fit the edge of the table and some brass screws. Put the oilcloth on and draw it tight, then screw the strips to the table. Trim the oilcloth close all around. This keeps the corners from wearing. Everyone knows how ugly the corners get, while the center is quite good.

DINNER IN A PAPER BAG.

For the roast, choose a rolled one, season well and rub thickly with salt, stuff into a bag which is large enough for the roast; grease the bag with butter, burn more quickly. A three-pound roast will take about forty-five minutes to roast. Slide the roast out on a heated platter, break the bag gently to allow the gravy to escape. Reheat the gravy and brown with flour. The one drawback in paper bag cookery is that the gravy is "never" the rich brown of ordinary roasts. The flour to be added may be browned to overcome this defect, or "kitchen bouquet" may be added for coloring.

A fowl roasted in a bag with a bunch of celery or an onion for stuffing is not a dish to be lightly esteemed.

Grease a bag and partly fill with small, even-sized onions, add a little water and cook until tender, the time depending upon the size of the onions. Remove the bag, puncture the bottom to let the liquor escape, season with butter and cream or with a white sauce, as one likes.

Potato straws are very attractive and quickly cooked. Peel the potatoes and slice on a vegetable cutter into straws, parboil for five minutes, drain, add butter, pepper and salt and put into a greased bag and bake for fifteen or twenty minutes. Serve around the roast as a garnish. Sweet potatoes are nice prepared in this way and sugar and butter added to them when put into the bag.

Pies and baked puddings are much improved by being put into bags. Cook in a steamer or put in a bag, that is a little state may be fastened nicely by putting for a few minutes into a bag and laying on the oven rack.

For a small company, chops are very nice cooked in the individual size and served piping hot in the bag to each guest. When our hotels and restaurants take up paper bag cookery in earnest we will not be served with cold chops or steaks.
